

Forward Plans for Chrysalis 2011

2011 promises to be an exciting and fulfilling year for Chrysalis.

The main thrust of our Long Term Plan this year is "training training and more training".

We have constructed a comprehensive "in-house training plan" which includes aspects such as:

safeguarding, diversity and inclusion, tracking children's progress, active learning, problem solving and conflict resolution, maths through play and active learning.

This training should have a direct effect on the provision that we give to our children and will help to improve our service even further.

Other exciting plans include (of course) our entry to the Terra Nova art competition – surely we can't win it for a third time?

Our parents are already busy nominating us for the NDNA nursery of the year awards, so wish us luck with that.

Charity events will include a staff team entry to the Race for Life and we will have fun with the children during Red Nose Day and Jeans for Genes.

Practical developments are underway as this goes to print with new external fences, internal re-decoration and continued investment in new toys, furniture and equipment.

Visitors and parental partnership are very important to us and we wish to welcome parents into nursery on special days such as graduation day and grandparents day. As well as these occasions, we always have our doors open to visitors who can come and spend some time with children – whether it is to read a story or share a skill with the children (for example a musical instrument or particular artistic skill)
